About the trip

15-night group trip through Croatia, Montenegro and Albania, with a Brazilian guide from departure from Brazil.

Croatia: seven nights in Dalmatia, among stone villages, inland waterfalls and the Croatian islands.

Split and Trogir: centuries-old heritage

Split: city life happens inside Diocletian's Palace.

Trogir: medieval center listed by UNESCO, on a small island linked to the mainland by bridges.

Krka National Park: cascades and waterfalls

The Krka River forms cascades and waterfalls, such as Skradinski Buk. Wooden walkways cross the park's vegetation.

Korcula: Marco Polo's island

Arrival by ferry on the island known as the birthplace of Marco Polo. The fishbone-shaped streets catch the sea breeze, and local vineyards produce wines from native grapes.

Dubrovnik: the pearl of the Adriatic

Two nights in front of the medieval walls, with entry to the walls and a cable car to Mount Srd. The turquoise sea contrasts with the terracotta roofs of the historic city.

Montenegro: small Balkan country in southeastern Europe, with mountains, medieval villages and a coast on the Adriatic Sea. Three nights in Kotor, with visits to Perast, Njegusi, Cetinje and Podgorica.

Albania: bathed by the Adriatic and Ionian seas, it has the Albanian Riviera coast in the southwest and the Albanian Alps in the north.

Albanian Riviera: coastal strip where the Ceraunian Mountains meet the Ionian Sea, from the Llogara Pass to the south, near the border with Greece. Three nights in Vlore, with a private boat trip around the Karaburun Peninsula and Sazan Island.
